

Benefits of Screening at a CHILD DEVELOPMENT CENTER

Whatever your child needs, Wyoming's Child Development Centers are here to help!

You don't need to make an appointment at the doctor's office to receive important screenings for your child. Child Development Centers provide services that meet your child's individual needs, and screenings are free.

These services are also free for qualifying children and families when they are enrolled at a Child Development Center. If your child might benefit from the following services, let us know!

Infants and Toddlers

- Speech language services
- Physical therapy services
- Occupational therapy services
- Vision services, which can include orientation and mobility services
- Ongoing hearing and vision evaluations and services
- Sign and cued language services
- Service coordination to assist families with community resources
- And more!

Preschoolers

- Speech language services
- Physical therapy services
- Occupational therapy services
- Sensory integration therapy
- Vision services, which can include orientation and mobility services
- Services for the hearing impaired
- Ongoing hearing and vision evaluations and services
- Sign and cued language services
- Special education services
- Family and child counseling
- Social work services
- Behavioral supports
- Interpreter services
- Transportation
- Programming for children with autism or ASD, orthopedic impairments, traumatic brain injury, or other health needs such as ADHD, MS and cerebral palsy
- And more!

Wyoming
Department of Health
Behavioral Health Division

FIND YOUR
FREE
DEVELOPMENTAL SCREENING
CENTER HERE:
[1before2.org/
regional-map](https://1before2.org/regional-map)

One Before Two is a campaign through the Wyoming Department of Health Child Find program dedicated to ensuring every child in Wyoming has a developmental screening once before the age of two, and every year after that until they are five years old.

